Our mission

At Jewish house it's our mission to improve the well-being and independence of people in need.

Through supportive professional care, we reintegrate clients into the community with purpose and in a safe environment - improving their future and breaking the cycle of personal crisis.

Who we are

Jewish House is an independent, not-for-profit charity providing crisis intervention and prevention services in the Eastern Suburbs of Sydney.

We operate as a progressive, non-denominational, independent crisis charity and provide around the clock support to those most vulnerable in our community.

Our clients benefit from our early intervention assistance, and we achieve high success rates in helping people rebuild their lives after a major life event or crisis.

Jewish House is committed to providing compassionate and professional clinical services, year-round to anyone in need.

What we do

Jewish House provides immediate crisis intervention, a 24/7 crisis call line, immediate and temporary crisis housing, case management, counselling and psychology services, pastoral care and job search support.

We offer weekly onsite workshops focusing on resilience building, mindfulness and movement therapy classes, SMART recovery groups, and life skill workshops.

We are one of the only crisis services that understands that in some cases pets are integral to the healing process. Our onsite accommodation and professional vet services ensure that pets are kept safe and close to their owner while they are receiving care.

Our comprehensive range of services are provided to individuals and families suffering from such issues as homelessness, depression, suicide ideation, addictions including gambling, domestic violence, mental illness, unemployment, family disputes and other crises.

Over the past 12 months, Jewish House witnessed a change in the cause and effect of crisis in our community. As a direct response, we have expanded and diversified our intervention and prevention services and programs.

These changes include a substantial rise in clients living with complex mental illnesses. Our team is also working directly with people who have experienced child sexual abuse as part of our larger commitment to the national child protection redress scheme. We have created a new weekly play and education program for children aged between 2 - 7, living in crisis situations.

Jewish House has also worked to strengthen our pre-existing programs, with our SMART recovery addictive behaviour weekly classes seeing high demand & popularity this year, and our 24hr crisis phone line is receiving a record volume of calls ranging in different queries and concerns.

We are constantly developing new programs and services to be able to provide the best possible care to those in need.

The year in review:

Co Presidents

Roger Clifford & Gary Cohen

As we enter the 35th year of Jewish House, we pause to acknowledge the immense difference our staff and services have made to so many men, women, and children in need.

Jewish House is now a well-recognised brand across the community and government agencies. We reflect on the recent and very significant expansion of our services teams and crisis accommodation properties over the past year - a direct response to the increasing need in our local community for unique, compassionate and professional services.

Our clients' welfare will always remain at the heart of every decision we make, whether this is on a practical day to day level or in the planning of our future. We believe in providing a home for our clients and Jewish House provides them with safe, clean, and warm accommodation should they require it. We also strive to keep families together in times of trauma and displacement. We provide access to a team of professional psychologists and counsellors ready to start working through the healing process after trauma and also social service staff who advocate for long term housing, education and employment opportunities on their behalf.

We believe that everyone, no matter their background, religious belief or economic status may at some time require help - and when that happens we at Jewish House will be there.

Over the past year Jewish House has expanded its crisis accommodation properties even further, providing more rooms to people in need. Through the support of the NSW State Government we now have a further 8 rooms making the total of 26 rooms (50+ beds) where we can accommodate clients for short term stays. With financial assistance from a local philanthropic community fundraiser, Jewish House also purchased a small SUV vehicle this year to be able to transport our clients, children, and their pets to medical appointments, and between crisis accommodation properties.

Our services are open 24 hours a day, with more people than ever contacting us on our crisis call line. We have a fleet of staff and trained volunteers ready to respond to all varieties of personal distress, no matter what the hour of the day.

Just in this past year alone, Jewish House has provided temporary and crisis accommodation to 420 homeless people, who will stay with us on average for up to three weeks before we can find them more secure long-term safe housing through government services, or by reconnecting them with family members.

More than 550 people have attended new group programs held at Jewish House - from our weekly resilience building and healing through movement workshops, to our SMART recovery for addictive behaviour workshops - our doors are open to past and present clients attending these sessions, as well as people in the community who benefit by improving their lives through participation. Jewish House believes in providing life skills and resilience techniques to our clients, enabling them to be able to take control of their lives and create an independent and fulfilling future. Participation at these workshops makes this possible.

We have strengthened our relationships with community partners and service providers over the past 12 months to ensure our clients and staff have access to niche professional services - ranging from pro-bono or heavily reduced fee arrangements with medical service providers for our clients, veterinarian procedures for their pets, and psychiatric appointments when needed.

We continue to be recognised by NSW Housing and the State Government as a reputable and progressive industry leader in homelessness services and the mental health space. The appointment by the Federal Government of our CEO Rabbi Mendel Kastel as a Mental Health Commissioner is further endorsement of our work in this area.

We continue to work directly with Federal, State and Government Departments such as the Department of Family & Community Services to shape legislation which has a direct impact on our client's lives. Our Ending Homelessness Report, launched in the NSW parliament and presented to Hon. Pru Goward MP in November last year clearly reports our effectiveness in the homelessness space, with tangible outcomes proposed for a new model of responding to the growing homelessness epidemic here in Australia.

Of course, our work would not be possible without the outstandingly generous support of our supporters, community partners, service providers, and individuals in the community who contribute throughout the year to strengthen the longevity of Jewish House's future. In particular, we gratefully acknowledge the significant generous ongoing support of Nora Goodridge and the Goodridge Foundation and the Education Heritage Foundation (Scheinberg Family).

This year marks 10 years of unfailing leadership and vision by our CEO, Rabbi Mendel Kastel. Rabbi Kastel together with his wife Tzippy and family have made Jewish House a home for thousands of people whose lives have been touched in some way by their warm and compassionate demeanour. Rabbi Kastel inspires us all and we are truly fortunate to have him as our CEO.

This year we also welcomed Helen Krig who as our COO has brought her organisational expertise to help Jewish House build its foundations for an even bigger and brighter future. We thank Helen and her staff, including our Finance Manager, Elan Slater, Head of Social Services, Rosana Coelho and Head of Marketing & Fundraising, Rachel Phillips for their enthusiasm and the range of expertise they bring.

We thank our team of fellow Board members, and acknowledge the dedication, time, and expertise each director makes to the stability and future of Jewish House. We also welcome two new directors this year - Jackie Goodridge and Robyn Solomon with Edward Wayne who has joined as an observer to the Board. We farewellled Graham Enfield this year in his official capacity as a board member, and thank him for many years of service and commitment to the work of Jewish House.

Thirty-Five years Old - Jewish House continues to tread new ground and try new initiatives to improve the lives of those in need. We speak up for the voiceless and seek to support all people who are experiencing crisis and hardship - in essence, Tikkun Olam - the restoration and continuation of a just world.

The year in review:

CEO

Rabbi Mendel Kastel OAM

Looking back it is hard to believe that another year has passed, but when I take the time to consider our achievements in this time I feel blessed and humbled by the difference that our organisation is able to make in NSW.

We are definitely forerunners in the homelessness arena, working closely with government and NSW Housing to increase our ability to house the homeless and to avoid homelessness by pre-empting support where possible.

Once again Nora Goodridge has shown her commitment to Jewish House. She bought two new premises for Jewish House to house the homeless. She is a blessing to us, as the more successful we are in placing the clients, the more our partner agencies request our help and support. We have a reputation for producing excellent outcomes.

We have recently been awarded new premises by Housing NSW who have given us the mandate to manage some properties while case managing the clients that they send there. Minister for Housing, The Hon. Pru Goward visited us to have a tour of the premises.

This growth has necessitated the employment of new case managers and social workers who are excellently trained and managed by Rosana Coelho, our ever efficient, happy and successful head social worker. I thank her and her team for their unstinting hard work and good attitudes.

Sarit Krcmar, one of our case managers and Simona Kamenev our exceptional volunteer are still successfully running our groups on Wednesdays and Claire Steigrad is running a SMART recovery group at Jewish House.

In terms of our psychology department we were saddened to bid farewell to our wonderful Mandy Manne who is making Aliya and who was an intrinsic part of Jewish House for 13 years.

She was with us through our growth, our ups and our downs and she was an unwavering source of support. She will be truly missed, and we wish her every success. We have replaced her with Monique Phipps who is welcomed onto our team. Michael Herman still visits Montefiore homes and takes the overload together with Jill Samovitz at Jewish House.

We were also sad to lose Dr Kieran LePlastrier our Clinical Director who has relocated to Queensland to further his career. We wish him all the best in his future endeavours.

We welcome to our staff our new COO Helen Krig who started with us this year. Elan Slater CA also joined our staff as our finance manager. We look forward to working with this new management team.

We have successfully applied to NDIS (National Disability Insurance Scheme). We have been audited and approved and are in the process of putting it into action.

We are also the first Jewish organisation that has been elected by the National Redress Scheme to work with people who have experienced institutional child sexual abuse. I believe that this is a vital service.

I was on the panel at the discussion of the Dassi Erlich case held at the JNF. It was very successful and many people attended.

I was honoured during this last year to receive an OAM for which I feel humbled and grateful. I want to mention all the staff who work with me at this time as it would not be easy to achieve such accolades on my own.

clients received counselling from our in-house psychology team over the past 12 months

I was invited during the last year to join the board of the NCOSS. (NSW Council of Social Services). It was an honour and very good for me to see the inner workings of such a service.

We have held two wonderful business lunches hosted by PWC. I offer them our sincere thanks for their committed and generous partnership with Jewish House. I commend Anthony Dickman as well for always being available to address our lunches. We really appreciate it.

As always Jewish House has celebrated the chaggim with joy and generosity. We held Sukkot at the zoo and many families joined us to celebrate. We thank Taronga Zoo for their continued support. We thank Eastgate for their support with Chanukah. A very special thank you goes out to the COA and the many volunteers who trudged during the Yomim Tovim to the nursing homes and hospitals with Shalach Manot to do the mitzvah of the shofar. Their dedication is very special.

In October we held our annual Jewish Community's Police Remembrance service at Central Synagogue. Thank you to Superintendent John Duncan who introduced himself as commander of the Eastern Suburbs.

We continue to work closely with Coles in our Yes We Can campaigns throughout 12 Coles stores in Sydney. The cooperation from Coles is wonderful and our clients so appreciate the food that we collect.

Our annual Golf Day was a success again thanks as always to Max Glatter who volunteered his time, his organisational skills and knowledge of our golf players to make it a great day.

Rowlene Kramer deserves a huge vote of thanks for all the time and effort that she has put into Jewish House. Thanks to her organisation there was a very successful concert held where the profits were put towards buying a vehicle for Jewish House which has proved invaluable. She is always there for us as a volunteer and we greatly appreciate it.

Through the generosity of several donors, we have been able to start a "Home Start Shop" in the garage behind Jewish House. We offer new crockery and cutlery amongst other items to clients moving into new homes.

Jewish House together with FACS, the Council and other interested organisations participated in collecting data for the homelessness count. Rosana Coelho, head of social work, together with our wonderful volunteer Simona Kamenev walked out on the streets of Bondi in the middle of the night to count the homeless people.

All the while working to help others we also need to maintain and upkeep the building at Jewish House. We have recently put in new fences in the front and back and have upgraded our security.

We need to mention at this juncture some of the organisations with whom we have reciprocal arrangements and who are generous in their donations to Jewish House. Oz Harvest, OBK, COA, 2ND Bite, Thread Together, Good 360, JNF, Kids giving Back, Youth off the Streets and Montefiore Homes are some that need to be named. Thank you all very much.

My sincere gratitude to our staff, volunteers, donors & supporters, the Jewish House Board, and our co-president's for their tireless efforts to grow our services to those in crisis over this past year. I look forward to continuing this work together over the coming 12 months.

The year in review:

COO

Helen Krig

We employ experts in the fields of social work, counselling, psychology and general GP services (in partnership with local community practitioners) - to provide premium service delivery to our clients. The health, safety and welfare of our clients is our team's number one priority, always.

I am incredibly proud of our team. The range of unique expertise in our social services team and high calibre of experience in our administrative teams all under the guidance of Rabbi Mendel Kastel OAM, and the Jewish House board of directors ensures that Jewish House continues to deliver the best possible care to those in our community experiencing crisis.

Jewish House is fortunate to have additional assistance from students who come and train with us to further their careers in the healthcare & welfare services space. We are incredibly grateful to them for their time, energy, and knowledge.

We would not be able to exist without the generosity of the community and the ongoing funding support from our donors. We are eternally grateful to every one of them for their unwavering support of Jewish House and our programs.

With the aims of increasing our operational capacity, we have grown both our team, our facilities, and programs over the past year. The hard work and commitment of our staff, board members, and volunteers has allowed us to increase our housing and social service capabilities by over 30 per cent - reaching hundreds of more clients every year.

Over the coming year, we will continue to expand our reach in the community, help more people in need, and develop our skills and service delivery even further. Our aim is to help give every client that walks through the doors of Jewish House hope and a fresh new start at life.

Crisis Accommodation:

Accommodation for clients seeking refuge from violent relationships, homelessness or any other circumstances that place them in a situation where they are without a home. Our approach is to offer clients holistic care by accessing our other services and those of our partners.

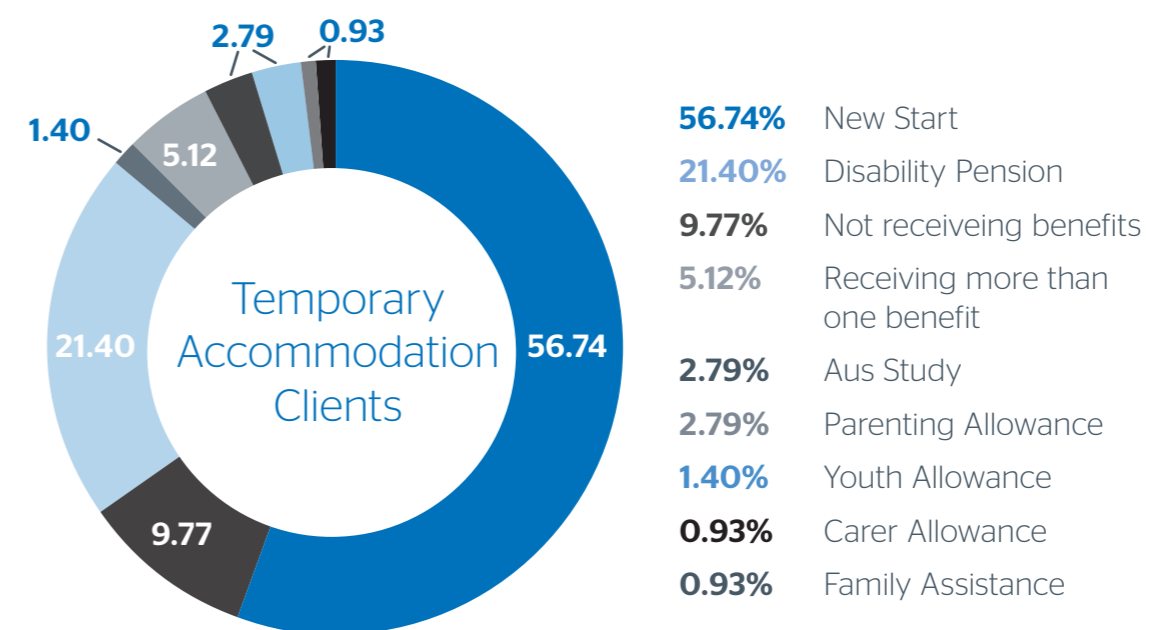

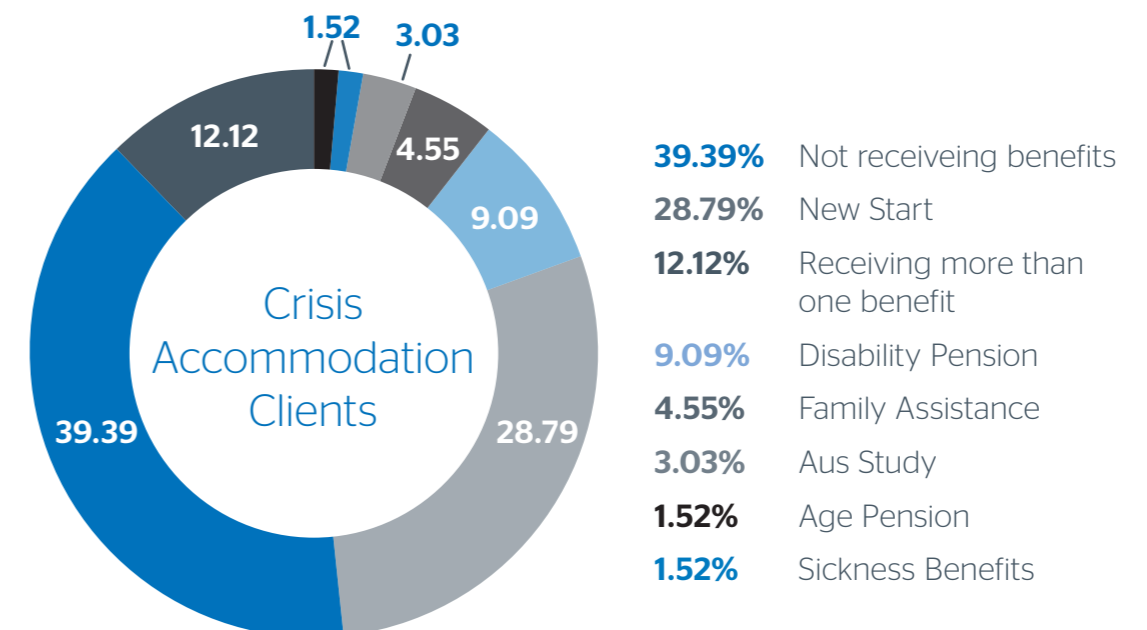

Temporary Accommodation & HomeBase:

HomeBase is an evidence-based model of post-crisis homelessness intervention and prevention (based on the New York City model) that supports clients after leaving crisis accommodation so that they can establish independent living with appropriate ongoing psychosocial and medical support. Clients work with those professionals who already understand their goals and needs.

HomeBase is supported by donations and supporters.

Our Temporary Accommodation programs are fortunate to be supported by some government funding.

The year that was

Coles YES WE CAN food drive

September 2017, April 2018: Our long-term partnership with Coles supermarkets continues to grow with an even bigger YES WE CAN food drive over this past year's Pesach and Rosh Hashanah holiday period. With more than 12 stores across Sydney taking part in this campaign, customers donated more than 500 items of food for homeless people in our community. A big thanks to JNF for their continued support as a sponsor of this activity.

Taronga Zoo Sukkot Family day out

October 2017: Jewish House collaborated with JNF and Taronga Zoo to host a Sukkot family celebration for more than 1,200 community members and their families. Guests enjoyed a treasure hunt, jumping castle, face painting, a tour of all the animals housed at the zoo, and a delicious kosher lunch available to each in our very own Zoo sukkah.

Ending Homelessness Report Launch Parliament House, Sydney

November 2017: Jewish House attended Parliament House and launched an independent report showing analysis on how our HomeBase program can save the Government $150million per year. Thanks to John Brogden AM and Hon. Pru Goward MP for their participation and support with this activity.

Jewish House Golf Day 2018

March 2018: Golfing enthusiasts and hopefuls joined us for a beautiful autumn morning out on the green at Bonnie Doon Golf Club, for a round of golf on the course in aid of Jewish House's work in the community. Funds raised on the day through participation, sponsorship, live auction, and raffle items went towards growing our crisis accommodation services, and programs for men, women, children and families in the community experiencing personal crises.

Jewish House Gala Dinner

November 2017: Jewish House celebrated our Annual Gala Dinner in November at the International Convention Centre, Darling Harbour - with more than 1,000 supporters, business partners, community members, and philanthropists coming together to acknowledge the work of Jewish House, and to raise funds to continue our crisis care support programs to the homeless and vulnerable. Guests enjoyed a delicious kosher menu, live international music entertainment act, and an amazing live and silent auction on the night. A huge thanks to everyone who attended and sponsored this event.

Jewish House Home Start shop launch

April 2018: With thanks to the Rector family, and a very generous bequest from the beloved and late John Rector, Jewish House was able to open our 'Home Start Shop'. A store where our clients can come and shop (free of charge) for brand new homewares, lines, and kitchenware once they have secured stable long-term housing following their stay in our crisis accommodation properties - helping them make their house a home. Jewish House thanks the Rector family, and local businesses for their generosity.

The year ending 30 June 2018 has seen Jewish House further expand its services, particularly in the provision of Temporary Accommodation. This will continue into the 2019 financial year due to the generosity of a major donor renting the property to Jewish House for TA. New and additional programs have also been expanded due to the ongoing support of our funders, donors and other supporters. In 2018, the Board decided to build up the management team to help facilitate the anticipated growth in the organisation in the ensuing years. This has resulted in a larger employment cost as a percentage of turnover in comparison to last year. This resulted in a small loss of $43,964 being incurred.

Further investment will be made in the coming year to improving the IT infrastructure as it is currently outdated and we constantly look forward to the addition of new revenue streams as we continue to grow as we enter our 35th year of operation.

During the 2018 financial year:

- We expanded our Temporary Accommodation facilities by obtaining 6 new rooms in Randwick and in September we will expand even further when we obtain an additional 8 rooms in Paddington.
- We continued with our "Homebase" program. This program aims to continue to support clients after they leave crisis accommodation. We supported 395 clients during the year. This is an increase of 91% from 2017. This program has assisted 93% of our clients to obtain stable housing after 6 months post-crisis intervention.

- We continued to provide specialist and other services on the North Shore in partnership with Lifeline.
- Our partnership with WAGEC is now in its 6th year. This has enabled us to assist over 80 single women and families across 3 locations in inner Sydney to be supported into long-term stable housing.
- We have employed a new clinical psychologist to enable Jewish House to further improve its services.
- We have consolidated the JH Kids program
- The annual Gala Dinner was well attended at a new venue and contributed significantly to the revenue of Jewish House. This coming year's dinner promises to be one of the best and will celebrate 35 years of Jewish House.

We are forever grateful to our auditors PwC and thank them for their continued services.
